

Membership benefits

Membership to CPA Associates International (CPAAI) opens a pathway to join the rapidly expanding world of professionals; members who are found in the international community of like minded professionals and organisations.

Whether your main reason for joining an association is as a defensive mechanism to protect the firm, to service existing clients or to secure new clients; membership to CPAAI presents many opportunities along with the prestige of being associated with a recognised organisation.

As with all international associations our members receive a membership directory, access to the association website and intranet network, quarterly newsletters and access to experienced and skilled practitioners around the world.

As a member of CPA Associates you will receive, not only all the usual standard benefits but many intangible benefits that will give you the opportunity to enhance the services you provide to your existing international clients and to take your international business further whilst preserving your independence.

It's easy!

To make taking part easy and accessible to all our members, we communicate via email, telephone, Skype and via our website. These are inexpensive ways to keep everyone in touch and involved as members are located around the globe. In person events within the EMEA region happen twice a year, usually in the spring and autumn, which means there is no need to worry about being inundated with requests for your presence.

It's fun!

There is always a social element to our events – once you have been to a few technical seminars and conferences you will easily have made some new connections and you will find that participation is as much personally enjoyable as it is professionally helpful – the best of both worlds.

Membership benefits

Networking and building relationships

All of the CPA members are welcoming, friendly, professional, approachable and diverse. This makes for lively and interesting discussions and also gives you the opportunity to learn from those that see things differently, about new cultures, business practices and different market places.

One of the most advantageous benefits of belonging to CPA is the ability to begin building substantial relationships and long term friendships from day one.

Currently within the EMEA region we hold two annual events: a technical seminar in the Spring and the AGM Conference in the Autumn. These are must attend events to develop your knowledge base and establish new friendships. The group format is a great opportunity to link up with professionals that offer different types of services; learn more about the resources available and to learn from your peers.

Get involved

There are plenty of opportunities to get involved, whether that is writing an article for the quarterly newsletter to hosting one of the annual events. To get the full benefit of membership time will need to be devoted to the association. Those that are more active tell us that they value the connections they have by sharing knowledge, expertise and learning secrets from fellow members.

Client servicing

Clients are central to the benefits that membership can offer. The quality and professionalism of all CPA members is very high and which is important to ensure standards throughout the association.

Assistance from fellow members when needed allows you to provide a service for all international clients at the demand of the client.

The association cannot guarantee that you will receive referral work. This is obviously an important element for joining an international association, however, the majority of our members say for them this is not a priority reason for being part of CPA. By creating and nurturing relationships within the association you will greatly assist with receiving new work.
